

Perseus and the fire sword

Perseus was running in the rain about to return home. When a sudden lightning storm started and was at its worst straight away which was very unusual, Perseus was 14 but 7 years ago he lost all memory of who he was and where he had come from he had been taken in by an elderly couple that looked after him extremely well, but he always felt like he didn't belong to the world because for all he knows his real family probably abandoned him. The lightning storm didn't bother him he had always preferred the rainy and stormy weather, his carers found it weird but so did he not for the fact that he preferred it but that in the presence of rainy and stormy weather he got faster, stronger and more endurance, but he noticed something different this time. As he ran he got faster as normal but this time his speed got so incredible that he felt the skin almost tearing off his face, he noticed that he wasn't in his neighbourhood now but in a place he had never been before he was only there for a small amount of time before tripping and falling over smashing his face across the ground.

He had been unconscious for six days before waking in a bed that he couldn't remember having looking around the room he noticed that this was not the home of the elderly couple but a completely different house in this room there was a large amount of handmade pottery the doorway was very strange it had a large wooden door that was joined to a frame of three thick pieces of wood and the walls were made from what appeared to be bricks and a concrete type substance and the window was just a hole in the wall. He got up and looked out the window on the other side of the window was a farm and a young woman doing the farming in the distance was a huge mountain the Perseus dropped to the ground and grabbed his head as if he had a headache, then he saw himself in a memory looking out the window and then he instantly knew that he was in Greece. He continued to walk around the house looking at all the unique stuff, as he did this he started to remember his past.

He heard a voice coming from the next room as he turned to head towards the room he knocked a clay pot off of a shelf. In though the doors leading to the next room came a lady she was wearing a blanket type thing it made her appear as if she was a slave, noticing the woman's clothes made Perseus notice his own he was wearing the same sort of thing just put on a different way he wondered where his normal clothes were, the woman said you're awake she sounded shocked Perseus was stunned then she grabbed his wrist and took him down to a man and she said Seth Perseus has finally woken up before the man could reply to the woman, Perseus asked what was going on the man replied what do you mean son Perseus said son in question form what do you mean son the man responded saying Perseus your my son and I'm your father you have been asleep for just under 7 years we tried everything to wake you up but you just wouldn't we didn't think you would wake up, but we didn't kill you because we know your part of the legend then Seth told Perseus about the myth that one day a boy of fifteen would defeat the Persians that have been threatening war the story goes that a boy will awake from his sleep and train as much as possible and then receive a training that no mortal has ever received before then when all of that is complete the boy will receive the weapon and armour of the gods and defeat Xerxes bring peace and freedom to Athens after telling the story to Perseus he told Perseus that his training will start in ten minutes so Perseus went inside to find some armour and a sword.

When Perseus got back outside with the armour on he asked Seth what will happen if he gets cut in training Seth replied with a laugh then grabbed Perseus sword and said lesson one stay focused on the present time and not the future for it can change. He threw the sword back at Perseus, Perseus caught the sword then ran at Seth and hit his leg with the flat edge of the blade causing him to flip up into the air. Seth got up and said good work as he brushed off his armour he could see that Perseus wasn't trying as hard as possible he asked Perseus why this was Perseus told him that he doesn't want to hurt him Seth laughed again and then said carry on. Perseus went into the house and came back out with two metal poles and gave one to Seth and said protect yourself and then Perseus and Seth clashed the poles together trying to hit each other while protecting themselves.

On the tenth day of training Seth took Perseus to Mount Olympus at the bottom they stood then they saw a carving of the prophecy Perseus ran his finger along the bottom of the words "Perseus and the fire sword" then next to the prophecy a cave appeared. They entered the cave deep in the cave there were statues of the gods all except Zeus Seth left the cave leaving Perseus alone with the gods. Then the cave closed up and then the statues came to life for the next few days Perseus was trained by the gods receiving not only battle training but training for life issues. After five days with the gods he was sent to the top of Mount Olympus to meet with Zeus. When he got to the top of it he saw Zeus in the sky then Zeus appeared next to him in person and gave him his last lesson the as he told Perseus to leave he gave him the fire sword and the armour that was made for it both made by Hephaestus the blacksmith god.

Perseus went with an army of 300 to fight Xerxes and the rest of the Persians. When they arrived at the battle grounds the bloody battle was started instantly Perseus took to his training and when straight for Xerxes he pulled out the fire sword and drove it straight across Xerxes thought taking his head off it dropped to the ground as the army of 300 defeated the Persians. The new champions returned home to a large celebration of freedom and happiness the prophecy had been right later that night Seth came to Perseus and asked him if he would like to return to his own time Perseus was shocked as he said own time in return then Seth explained that the Zeus had made a lightning bolt bring you here to free you from the Persians Perseus replied with yes then Seth took him to Zeus and told him then Zeus sent him to his own time and said good bye my great grandchild he tried to question this but it was too late he was already back in his own time he ran the rest of the way home to the elderly couple and explained what happened and then he looked out the window trying to find Zeus in the sky.
